

Japs declare war on the U. S. Japs declare war on the U. S., why did the Japanese pick that date to declare war on us? Because they were stronger than we were and they were ready. We shipped them the material to build up their war machine. They had fences built around their factories so we couldn't see what they were doing, but we sat here fat, dumb and happy, and the Japanese were building up their war machine, and when they got strong, look what they did, right there. Now, some of the people who are speaking for this freeze who have not gone the entire route, let's look at their age. One of them is a minus 13 years old in 1941. Another one was born in '41. Another one was five years old, and another one was minus 3. So they are standing here and they are saying, trust the Russians. Trust them, hell, they told us they are going to come and take us over. So what did we do? When we gained the upper hand, take my second handout, please, when we gained the upper hand, when we had the nuclear knowledge and the military foresight and it resulted in victory, as no strings attached as Nipponese bow to General McArthur in top post. Because we were stronger than they were we won the war. Now you have got to have a good defense and you have got to have a good offense. I am living under the same conditions of a nuclear war as everybody else but I have been through a war and I will go through another one for this country if I have to and so will my kids because they said they would. We are not going to have a nuclear war. We are going to have a ground war. We are going to have tanks and troops. Look at what has happened now. Russia has got Cuba. They are surrounding us with troops and with tanks. They know if they push the button we are going to push the button. We are not going to destroy each other. But we have got to remain strong and a strong offense and strong defense is the same thing. So all I can say is, you take these two pieces of paper that I have passed out when they were strong, they attacked us; when we got strong and with nuclear weapons, we won it because we were stronger. We went to sleep. We helped them build up their war machine. There are people in this country who are helping tear down our defense and our offense. They are going to make us weak, and I want my kids to be free to have a Legislature.

SPEAKER NICHOL: One minute.

SENATOR HABERMAN: We wouldn't have this if we hadn't won World War II. We wouldn't be sitting here. So I say to you, no, we cannot have this, let's stay strong, let's be military if we have to. I have gone through it. I appreciate what we have done. I am willing to go back and do it again
